Festival At Nancy, France

Eastern Little Theatre Group Chosen Official University Theatre Entry

Eastern Little Theatre, the dramatic organization at Eastern, has been chosen as the official United States entry in the World University Theatre Festival to be held in Nancy, France, April 22-May 1.

The Festival at Nancy is termed "the Olympics of the Drama." It is a world-wide competition with an outstanding university theatre group from each nation represented.

Jury of High Authorities

A jury composed of the highest authorities in theatre, cinema, and literature bestows the Festival Grand Prize on the best performance. The 1964 Jury was presided over by Jules Romain of the Académie Française; the 1965 Jury, by Julien Duvivier, film producer, and Armand Salacrou, playwright.

Plays are presented in the Grand Theatre of Nancy, a 1300 seat theatre, which represents one of the finest achievements of the 18th Century French Architecture. Despite the theatre's age, its stage is one of the largest and best equipped in Europe.

Each group participating in the Festival presents two plays. One is a one-hour play of their own choosing; the other is a twenty-minute play on a theme assigned by the Festival Committee.

The Festival is designed to bring together university theatre groups whose work is not an imitation of professional and commercial theatre. The use of the same theme for all groups for a twenty-minute presentation is an experiment aimed at comparing the scenic styles and creative capacity of each company.

At the 1965 Festival, the student theatre of Madrid and the theatre of Bratislava (Czechoslovakia) were jointly awarded First Prize. In 1964, the winner was the Student Theatre of Mexico.

Students Attend Many Events

In addition to the performance given by the university theatre groups, students will be privileged to attend seminars, concerts, exhibitions, lectures, and receptions arranged by the Festival.

The Festival is sponsored by the University Theatre of Nancy, the International Theatre Institute, the Theatre of Nations, the International Union of University Theatres, the French National University Theatre Federation, and the Lorrain University Cultural Center.

'Now, Get The Foul Shot'

Head coach Jim Baechtold slaps the back of Bodkin's neck, and assistant Jack Adams congratulates the senior Forward on breaking a record the assistant coach had held for 10 years. After the game, Adams presented Bodkin the game ball.

Community Concert Series Features Dance Ensemble

The third program of the Richmond Community Concert Series will bring to the campus the heralded Svetlova dance ensemble composed of three dancers and a solo pianist. The program is set for February 24, at 8 p.m.

The Svetlova Dance Ensemble will present a varied program of dances of great appeal. Marina Svetlova, Prima Ballerina with the famed Ballets Russes de Monte Carlo, the American Ballet Theatre, and the Metropolitan Opera, will be the featured dancer in numbers from "Les Sylphides," "The Nutcracker," "Don Quixote," and others.

Mr. Crane on Broadway Deane Crane and Jose Barrera make up the remainder of the team. Mr. Crane has been seen in several Broadway productions such as "Oklahoma," "Annie Get Your Gun," "Fanny" and others as well as many motion pictures in Europe and in Italian and German television.

Crane will join Miss Svetlova in several of the dances cited above. As a contrast to the classical ballet of the two other dancers, Jose Barrera will supply dances with a Spanish flavor. Mr. Barrera was brought to this country by Escudero and has followed in the footsteps of the great Flamenco master. He has earned the highest praise for his dancing.

Others by means of a Season Ticket from the Richmond Community Concert Association.

Has Dance and Music
Theodor Haig, pianist, will accompany the dances, but will also be heard in piano solos by Chopin and Liszt.

The program should provide a varied experience in both dance and music. From all reports it will be an evening of beautiful dancing, colorful costumes, and attractive music.

Students are admitted by an I.D. card with admission to

Audubon Lecture

Discusses

Canadian Wildlife

Many students interested in the conservation of wildlife and in nature enjoyed an informative lecture given by Naturalist C. P. Lyons last night in Eastern's Hiram Brock Auditorium.

Mr. Lyons discussed the native wildlife in the Canadian Province of British Columbia. He augmented his talk with a film which included mammals as well as many unusual insects, birds, reptiles, and amphibians common to the area.

The wildlife was filmed in its natural habitat which ranged from forests to deserts to alpine heights. The film was a beautiful as the lecture was informative.

This lecture was the third in a series of four sponsored by the Biology Department and the National Audubon Society. The last lecture of the series will be presented on March 24, at 7:30 p.m.

Admission to the series is by season ticket, which is good for four single admissions. The ticket can be used by more than one person on the same day. Tickets, priced at one dollar for the season, may be purchased by contacting A. L. Whit, Jr., of the Eastern Biology Department.

Fulbright-Hays Lectureships Available

A revised list of Fulbright-Hays lectureships still available for 1966-67 in various countries of the world has just been issued by the Conference Board of Associated Research Councils in Washington, D.C. The list, which includes new entries for Afghanistan (medical science), Ceylon (social work, English language teaching), Finland (geography), Hong Kong (American literature, English language teaching), and India (American literature and history, economics, sociology, political science) may be consulted at the office of the Faculty Fulbright Adviser, Professor Wayne R. White, Department of Geography-Geology, Roark 206. Faculty members who wish to receive announcements of Fulbright-Hays awards for lecturing and research abroad during 1967-68, which will be available for distribution in late March, are advised to request them now of the Conference Board (2101 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20418).

Pick Up Photos Monday

Students who did not pick up their individual photos last semester may do so from 3 to 5 Monday in the Milestone office in Roark 8. This is the last day which the Milestone will be responsible for these pictures.

State Higher Education Bill Passed In House Polling By Overwhelming 83-0 Vote

The House of Representatives Wednesday overwhelmingly voted to give university status to Eastern, Western, Murray and Morehead state colleges as the higher education bill passed 83 to 0.

House Bill 238 now goes to the Senate where it expects little difficulty in being approved by the 38 state senators.

The administration-backed bill, which would redesignate Eastern as Eastern Kentucky University and authorize additional graduate programs, received no opposition and little discussion in the House. Rep. Ted R. Osborn, D-Lexington, sponsor of the bill, was not given a chance to present his explanation of the bill before the House called for a vote.

The bill was not expected to have much difficulty in passing the House as 54 representatives had signed it before it was introduced for the first time Wednesday of last week.

If passed by the Senate and signed by Governor Edward T. Breathitt, the bill would become effective 90 days after the close of the legislative session, or June 20. It is expected, however, that the respective Boards of Regents of the four colleges will agree on a common date of July 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year, for change in status.

The bill was a result of a state-wide study of higher education by a three-man survey team and the Governor's Commission on Higher Education. It provides for graduate programs at the four state colleges at the masters-degree level in education, business and the arts and sciences and programs beyond the masters to meet the needs of teachers, school officials and other certified personnel.

Eastern is planning additional graduate programs in several areas, some of which will be ready to implement next fall.

The new state "universities" are also given authority to provide programs of a community-college nature in their own community comparable to the UK system of community colleges.

The bill also calls for a reconstituted Council on Public Higher Education which restricts voting privileges to nine lay members appointed by the Governor.

Senate action on the bill is expected early next week.

Student Council Submits Report To Student Body

The Student Council standing committees have submitted reports of the past semester's work to the student body.

These committees include the Party System, Bloodmobile, Experiment in International Living, Publicity, Social, and Student Council Institute committees.

The reports are as follows:
Party System Committee;
Peggy Carter, Chairman.

The Party System Committee was developed in order to discuss the feasibility of establishing a party system on campus for the student elections.

A party system would involve two specified parties and one independent party, of which students would have the option to join. Conventions would be held to nominate candidates for office and later election would follow. The committee also discussed the possibility of changing the type of representation to enable all students to be represented more equally.

Thus far, our efforts have mainly been in discussing the pros and cons of such a development, and writing other schools who use the party system for information which might be beneficial in our efforts here at Eastern.

Our future plans are to further delve into the problems now confronting us and to present a system which will represent the student more fairly and help our council to function progressively in the future.

Bloodmobile Committee;
Kathy Colebrook and Mike

Johnson, co-chairmen.

The Student Council Bloodmobile Committee worked with representatives of the Caduceus Club, Sharon Richardson and John Ruggles, to make the December 9 blood drive the most successful one to be held in the state. The blood obtained was designated for the American troops serving in South Viet Nam.

With the help of the Art Department, over 100 posters were made which were distributed by the Counterintelligence Raiders. The Maintenance Department also made a large sign to be put in front of the Student Union Building and arrows to be used to direct the students to the Burnham Hall Recreation Room.

The drive lasted from 10 to 4 p.m. Approximately 868 people came to give blood. A total of 456 persons registered before the doors had to be closed at 1:30 p.m. Of those processed, 398 pints of blood were accepted. A list of 287 people wishing to give blood was compiled by the Caduceus Club under Orson Arvin's direction.

Experiment in International Living; Marvin Marcum, Chairman.

Through three subsequent committee meetings, a list of qualifications was designed to obtain the best possible candidates to make application for selection of a student for the Experiment in International Living.

Through a series of press releases in the Eastern Progress, the student body was in-

Weaver Oratorical Contest Open To All Men Students

Feb. 22 is the deadline on the applications for the Weaver Oratorical Contest. The contest is open to all male undergraduate students in all departments.

Mr. John Weldon, sponsor of the contest, stated, "Today's college student is supposed to be especially articulate about social and political problems. Here is your chance to prove it."

Eight to Ten Minute Speech

The eight to ten minute speech should be timely and of original composition. The judges will consider appropriateness of subject matter, originality, development and organization of the student, interpretation and presentation of thought, delivery, effectiveness, voice and diction.

Entrants should register with Mr. Weldon in Cammack 107.

Finals on March 2

The semi-final contest will be Feb. 24 in the Combs Building. March 2 the finals will be during the assembly.

The use of notes should be minimized and each finalist must submit a copy of his manuscript to the chairman of the contest, the day following the semi-finals.

Out-of-State Tuition Will Be Raised To $580 Next Fall

The tuition for out-of-state students will be raised starting next fall. The increase will be to $580 a year at five of the state colleges, including Eastern. The University of Kentucky tuition fees for the year will be $520.

The presidents of Kentucky's five state colleges and the state university approved the tuition increases. The proposed rate changes must still be approved by the state council on Public Higher Education at its Feb. 23 meeting, but the council usually follows the presidents' recommendations on such matters.

The nonresident tuition rates at present, the rates with the previously approved increases and the rates with the new increase are: The University of Kentucky $620 at the present, has been raised to $720, and the new increase would be $820. At the five State colleges, the present tuition is $400 and has been raised to $450 and would be raised to $580.

UK has approximately 2,500 out-of-state students this year and about 6,700 are enrolled at the five colleges. If that enrollment remained at the same level, the new rates would produce roughly $1.1 million in additional revenue.

Ted Gilbert, executive secretary of the council, said the presidents have authorized him to present a new tuition schedule to the council which will make the nonresident tuitions "comparable with other states and in some cases even a little higher." He stated the presidents' "approach is fairness and equity" in setting new rates.

Quoted matter should be limited to 10 percent of the total work count. Quoted matter is words written or spoken by a person other than the orator. Direct discourse, dialogue or other stylistic devices with quotation marks created by the orator shall not be included in the 10 percent total.

The Weaver Oratorical Contest was started in 1948 as the result of the efforts of a late board of Regents Member, Charles F. Weaver. Mr. Weaver's motivation for pushing the establishment of the contest was his belief that young men, particularly college students, should be as articulate as possible. The contest, now a tradition at Eastern, is his living memorial.

Music Department

Presents

Recital

The Eastern Department of Music will present Mary Lewis Akright, soprano, and Landis Baker, pianist, in a recital in the Foster Music Building, Tuesday evening, February 22 at 8 p.m.

Faculty members, Mrs. Akright and Mr. Baker will present a program of varied vocal music taken from the Baroque, Romantic, and Contemporary periods in music history. They will be assisted by three other faculty members, Alan Staples, violin, Miriam Oppelt, violin, and Lyle Wolfstrom, cellist.

Most recently Mrs. Akright was heard as the soprano soloist in the 1965 Messiah on the campus. She has had a varied career involving solo recital and oratorio experiences in Kentucky, Missouri, and Michigan. Mr. Baker has been both a soloist and accompanist in numerous programs on the campus.

The program is composed of several important masterpieces of vocal literature. Mrs. Akright will begin her program with a solo motet by the Baroque composer, Dietrich Buxtehude. Seven songs in the Myrten cycle will continue the recital. The familiar aria from La Boheme, Mi chiamano Mimì, will be included.

The final group on the program will be the monumental "Chansons de Bilitis," composed by Claude Debussy. The later cycle is a very demanding vocal group requiring unusual skill and technique.

There is no admission for the program, and students, faculty, and friends of the College are cordially invited to attend.

Tryouts Held

Drum and Sandal tryouts will be held Wednesday, Feb. 23, at 7 p.m. in Weaver Dance Studio. Plans are being made for the spring show.

Student Code Draws Interest

Effectiveness Lies Within Student Body

THE POSSIBILITY OF A STUDENT CODE is a subject which has aroused much interest, discussion and questions in the past several weeks.

It might now be appropriate to attempt to define such a student creed and its relation to the student body of Eastern.

The creed will encompass more than the area of student policies and customs in regard to student action, it will attempt to establish guidelines rather than rules for student ethics. It will hopefully create a uniting student spirit in regard to college community and alleviate the overwhelming situation of student negativism now present on campus.

The purpose of the student creed is to create a common purpose within the college community itself and to help instill an atmosphere that will be conducive to scholastic achievement. It will function to encourage not only student respect for the college but also self respect on the part of the student that his actions might reflect favorably upon himself and the institution. It would grant the student a definite position within the scope of the college community, thus encouraging him to exercise this position through a realization and acceptance of the importance of personal interest in the activities and functions of the college.

The need for a student creed is readily apparent as a means of providing the student with a steadfast purpose within the college community. Our goals and aims while in college are most often recognizable, but our purpose of growing and maturing while in an educational atmosphere is not so obvious.

We need to be aware of our rights and to know that they will not be overlooked or disregarded. The tremendous growth of the college in terms of students and facilities need not overshadow the individual or his position.

To function effectively, the student must recognize that the creed will be something of benefit to him, that the guidelines which the creed will establish will be helpful to him in directing his own behavior, provide him a means to accomplish his purpose, and facilitate the overall atmosphere of the college community.

Thus, student acceptance and co-operation in the formation and maintenance of this creed is the key to its effectiveness.

Sights and Sounds

JOE M. JOHNSON

One of the best things about the campus movies is that they give you a chance to catch some pictures you missed when they played the regular theatres. An even better thing about the campus movies is that beginning March 9, and continuing for every Wednesday thereafter, you'll get a chance to see some of the really fine art movies, foreign movies, and American cinema classics. Movies for this "Film Classics" series will be drawn from such titles as "This Sporting Life," "David and Lisa," "Zorba the Greek," "The Servant," "Hiroshima, Mon Amour," "La Strada," "Rashomon," "Henry V," and "Ballad of a Soldier." Such films have received both critical and public acclaim and will be well worthwhile to see. As I say, the ultimate choice of films is at present unknown, but you'll miss a rare opportunity to see some excellent movies if you fail to take advantage of any of the "Film Classics" offerings.

The finals of the Annual Weaver Oratorical Contest for men will be held at the March 2 assembly. This contest is open to all male undergraduates in the college. Any person interested should pick up an entry blank in Cammack 106 or 107, complete it, and return it to Mr. John Welden, Chairman of the contest, by the afternoon of February 22. This doesn't give you much time, assuredly, but that is only the deadline for entering. There will be sufficient time, later, for preparing the speech. There is a cash prize for the winner as well as participation in the Kentucky Inter-Collegiate Oratorical Association Contest.

A number of students, teachers, and others have asked how Eastern Little Theatre was selected to compete in the World University Theatre Festival. We received an invitation to submit a dossier of materials for consideration as the entrant from the United States. This dossier consisted of a history of the organization, with particular emphasis on the recent history. We also had to include programs, reviews, photographs of productions, letters of reference, biographical information on students likely to attend, and summaries of the plays that would be produced if the group were selected to attend. A Festival Selection Committee, after studying the material from all entrants, then chose the official entrant from each country.

We are indeed honored to have been selected. Our making the trip, of course, hinges on whether or not we can raise the necessary funds for the trip.

Congratulations

Little Theatre Represents U.S.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE LITTLE THEATRE are in order in honor of their selection as the official United States entry in the World University Theatre Festival to be held in Nancy, France, April 22 to May 1.

We think it only fitting that such an organization as Eastern's Little Theatre be accorded such recognition.

The determination and dedication of the organization to make their contributions to the artistic atmosphere of Eastern the best they can possibly do no doubt deserves such an honor.

The quality of their continuous productions throughout each year definitely proves the ability of this acting company, as does the steady dedication of their director, Mr. Joe Johnson, assistant professor of drama and speech at Eastern.

This particular theatre festival has been described as the Olympics in the drama, with outstanding competition provided by university theatre groups representing each nation in the world.

The plays will be presented in the Grand Theatre of Nancy, a theatre which although constructed in the eighteenth century, still remains one of the finest equipped, with a seating capacity of 1300.

Provided necessary funds can be collected to make the trip abroad, the crew of twelve actors and their chaperons will begin their journey April 22 and return on May 1.

Again our hearty congratulations go out to the Eastern Little Theatre and to their director, Mr. Johnson.

Teacher-Turnover Rate Reported

What happens to Kentucky teachers who become part of the nation's "teacher-turnover" statistics every year?

It's hard to get complete information but a survey being made by the Kentucky Education Association (KEA) Committee for the Study of the Foundation Program gives a general picture for the 1964-65 school year.

Based on incomplete returns from superintendents in all but 44 of Kentucky's 200 public-school systems the survey shows that 2,066 teachers who were teaching in the districts during 1964-65 are not teaching there this year.

(Kentucky last year had 25,464 classroom teachers.)

For the 2,066 who left a local school system, the survey was able to pin down the whereabouts of only 803 who are still in public-school teaching at the elementary and secondary level. Information was incomplete for another 906 teachers who may or may not be teaching in public schools this year.

For the 803 teachers the split was almost 50-50 on whether they took a new teaching post out of the state or whether they went to another school system within Kentucky.

The other 358 teachers in the survey of 2,066 were accounted for this way: Leave of absence, 36; retirement, 65; college teaching or studying, 77; other occupations in the field of education, 84; not working, 71; outside the United States, 13; deceased, 2, and miscellaneous (jobs outside education, among other things), 10.

There were 398 teachers who took jobs outside Kentucky. The largest number of these — 79 — went to Indiana. In second place was Ohio, which got 66 of the 398. Florida took 46.

Tennessee got 41 of the 398. Illinois took 18; Virginia, 11; West Virginia, 8; Missouri, 4, and other states, 127.

For the 406 teachers who left their school systems to go to other teaching posts in Kentucky the largest group — 115 — went to school systems bordering the one they left.

KEA REPORT

Thirty-three went to a school system in Jefferson County and 30 to one in Fayette County.

By broad geographical areas, excluding the three categories previously mentioned for teachers who moved but stayed in the state, this breakdown occurred: Central Kentucky got 59 teachers; Western Kentucky, 56; Eastern, 44; Southern, 31; Northern, 22; and Northwestern, 15. Some teachers, of course, moved from a school system within a geographical area to another system in the same geographical area.

Roy McDonald, chairman of the KEA Committee for the Study of the Foundation Program, emphasized that the results of the survey are preliminary. The committee will continue to seek more complete information.

"We would like to try to find out why these teachers left their districts," McDonald said, "although the attraction of higher salaries would seem to be the main reason."

"Salaries undoubtedly were the major reason Kentucky teachers went to other states," he added. "Kentucky is fourth from the bottom this year in average salary paid to classroom teachers. Only Arkansas, South Carolina, South Dakota, and Mississippi pay less than the Kentucky average of $4930."

McDonald, superintendent of Trigg County schools, is one of 14 members of the KEA committee, which was established by authority of the KEA delegate assembly in December, 1964. It is composed of one member from each of KEA's 11 districts plus three officers of the KEA Department of Classroom Teachers.

At the request of the committee Dr. Harry Sparks, state superintendent of public instruction, appointed a 20-member citizens advisory group to work with the study group.

The committee will issue its final report by January 1, 1967. Its recommendations for revisions in the 12-year-old foundation program for education will be directed toward the 1968 General Assembly.

Principal consultants to the committee are Dr. Edgar Morphet, professor emeritus of education at the University of California, Berkeley; Dr. W. M. Barr, professor of education at Indiana University, Bloomington; and Dr. R. L. Johns, professor of education at the University of Florida, Gainesville.

Eulogy On The Death Of Chivalry

While executing his duties as a knight he learned much about the base part of life that he had not known before. He fought constant battles with the impolite churl and the cruel opportunist, and even had cause at many times to fight on the side of Honor against his own father. It was during this time that he learned that there would always be boors whose actions proved that the feelings of others meant nothing to them, whose laughter could only be incited by the embarrassment of others, and whose intemperance and vulgarity could turn any social gathering into a shambles.

Chivalry learned that the way to deal with these people was to confront them openly—and by not falling to their level in the confrontation, but remaining always a gentleman, one could unnerve the rogue or by ridiculing his boorishness have him dismissed from the company. At times, by knowing the courteous thing to do he was able to turn many essentially disastrous situations into happy memories. He spent his entire life promoting the interests of gentlemanliness.

For his valor were heaped upon him many rewards — the good favor of ladies, the respect of gentlemen — and it did not go unnoticed in his profession either — the King made him a member of his knights of the Round Table.

Thus, the ideal continued his Chivalrous life up through the nineteenth century, but, as we have often heard, all good things must come to an end. It, then, should not surprise us that Chivalry should die.

It was early in the twentieth century that he began to fail—but, friends of the deceased, though I know it is not fitting nor my duty to bring it up here, I cannot help but feel that there should be some inquiry made into the causes for his death.

Did he really die of natural causes? Or was he murdered? If so, was his murderer male or female?

Of course, he lived a long life and old age is a cumberance in today's quick changing world. And, too, though I find it hard to believe, he did have enemies in both the male and female sex. Some women, out of an over zeal for equality, gave up their positions as ladies — a stab at the very heart of Chivalry's existence. Others, because they felt insecure in their position let themselves be treated less than ladies. They failed to demand the courtesies of Chivalry. They let him die through disuse. And, then, there were those women who refused to be ladies, whose own manners were rude and crude and who, therefore, did not deserve the attention of Chivalry.

But then, there were those males who because they were not gentlemen themselves, considered no women, ladies. They ridiculed Chivalry which may have been the fatal blow to his sensitive and gentle soul. Some gentlemen let themselves be led astray in thinking that these courtesies were only flatteries to be used only as a means to an ulterior end. They ruined Chivalry's reputation. Others were embittered by the female desire for equality in society and determined to take her off the pedestal (which in most cases was the kitchen shelf) and treat her with less respect than their most hateful enemies. These men denied the existence of Chivalry. They left him without a purpose for living.

But, what ever the reason, he is dead and his friends who would have had him live found all doors to his recovery left unopened. These friends, I hope will try to keep him alive in their memory and their actions, for Chivalry was a good ideal, and I am sure that he has gone to that good place, where ever it may be that good ideals go whenever they depart this earth.

I think it only fitting at this time that we repeat the words that served as his motto throughout life:

"Ask not what your friends can do for you, but what you can do for your friends."

Eastern Best-Dressed Coed Contest Set For March 3

YOU could be chosen to represent Eastern in the tenth annual contest of Glamour Magazine to find the "Ten Best-dressed College Girls."

Eastern has been again asked to enter a representative, and the Progress is sponsoring the contest to select an on-campus winner. Last year over 301 colleges in 42 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and Canada sent entries to the magazine, and even more are expected to enter this year.

The judging standards used by the Glamour Magazine and by the Progress committee are: 1. A clear understanding of her fashion type. 2. A workable wardrobe plan. 3. A suitable campus look (she's in line with local customs). 4. Appropriate—not rah, rah-look for off-campus occasions.

5. Individuality in her use of colors, accessories. 6. Imagination in managing a clothes budget. 7. Good grooming, not just neat, but impeccable.

8. Clean, shining, well-kept hair. 9. Doff use of make-up (enough to look pretty, but not overdone). 10. Good figure, beautiful posture. Campus activities and off-campus interests are also important in choosing the co-ed who will represent Eastern.

The "Ten Best-dressed College Girls" will receive national recognition for themselves and their colleges in the August College Issue of Glamour, and in newspapers throughout the country.

Photographs will be taken by world famous fashion photographers for the August issue of Glamour. These will be taken sometime in the spring, either on campus, in New York, or in some other location determined by the editors. In addition, it has been the magazine's policy to use—if possible—the ten winners in other issues of Glamour throughout their winning year. They also receive a personal gift from the editors of Glamour.

These same girls also receive an all-expense-paid visit to New York from May 30 to June 11, with round-trip transportation via American Airlines. A special party will be held in the winners' honor to present them to over 1,000 members of the fashion industry. They will be shown New York at its most glamorous, taken to famous restaurants, the theater and cultural centers. They will also be entertained at fashion shows, luncheon and dinners, and will receive numerous gifts from friends of Glamour.

Honorable Mention Winners
A selected number of young women will be chosen as Special and/or Honorable Mention winners and their pictures will appear in an issue of Glamour. The 1965 Special and Honorable Mention winners were photographed in New York for a color gatefold that appeared in the August 1965 issue. They will also receive a gift from the editors.

Applications Are Available
Any girl who is interested in the contest is urged to fill out an application blank. They can be obtained from the committee chairman, Nancy Prinzel, McGreggor Hall, room 639; or, Brenda Philpot, Clay Hall, room 1020. They must be turned in by Monday, February 21. A snapshot is required. Also, any boy who wishes to suggest a girl may see us. Applications are also available in the Progress Office. The semi-finals on Eastern's campus will be notified before February 25.

The young girl who is chosen as Eastern's winner will compete with best-dressed winners from hundreds of colleges in the United States, and other areas for top honors in the Glamour Contest.

Photographs of the winner taken by the college photographer in a campus outfit, a daytime off-campus outfit and a party off-form will be sent to Glamour by March 4th for the national judging.

It could be you. Fill in an application and turn it in. Remember these dates:

Mon. Feb. 21—Last day to return entry form to Brenda Philpot or Nancy Prinzel.

Thurs. Feb. 24—Semi-finalists will be notified.

Fri. Feb. 25—Winner of the Eastern contest will be chosen.

Senior Recital

Concert Series

Features Ensemble

In their senior year, all music majors must give an hour-long performance of works they have studied and perfected during college. They are graded on this recital.

Last Tuesday evening Miss Cheryl Harris gave her senior recital on the piano in Brook Auditorium. She played four works from memory, Ludwig van Beethoven's Piano Sonata No. 3, Opus 10 which is a piece requiring much finger dexterity and coordination; Johann Sebastian Bach's English Suite VI, in D Minor; Claude Debussy's La Soiree dans Grenade, which is light, rhythmic and bouncy; and Frederic Chopin's majestic Scherzo in C-sharp Minor, Opus 39.

Miss Harris is a talented young pianist who is not afraid to really pound on the keys. She was definitely well prepared for her excellent performance, and she put feeling into it.

She played a large variety of music ranging from slow and delicate, fast and loud, to jumpy and cheerful. All of Miss Harris' selections were difficult. She can use her hands with outstanding proficiency, beautifully proving the old adage that "practice makes perfect." Miss Harris is a fine credit to our Music Department!

Summer Job Applications Available

A number of Post Offices throughout the country are accepting applications for temporary employment for college students during the summer. Applicants are selected on the basis of merit. The examination will be used to select the most qualified applicants for employment between May 1 and September 30, 1966.

Applications for the positions, which pay $2.37 an hour, will be accepted through February 24. A written test taking less than one hour will be held in March in over 1,000 cities.

Eligibles will be given ratings based on test scores, and offers will be made first to those in the highest group.

Merit Test Given

Requirements for these positions are: the applicants must be at least eighteen years old at time of appointment, and sons and daughters of postal employees will not be eligible for appointment.

Applicants to take the written test must be filed with the post office board of examiners having jurisdiction over the locality where the applicant desires to take the test. Copies of the examination announcement and application forms (Form 5000 AB) may be obtained from offices of the U.S. Civil Service Commission and at many boards of civil service examiners and post offices.

PROGRESS ON SPORTS

with Jim Wiebebrink

EDDIE BODKIN DID THE IMPOSSIBLE last Monday night as he set a new all-time scoring record of 1,462 points. This record was previously held by freshman coach, Jack Adams, during the '53-'54 season.

Many things led to the accomplishment of setting this record. Bodkin was sure to break this record this year by the way he did it was something that you had to see to believe. Bodkin scored just twelve points in the first half of the Austin Peay game and he needed 25 points in the second half to break this long standing record.

Bodkin, passing up many wide-open shots, set up many baskets for his teammates and pulled in ten rebounds. With two minutes showing on the clock it did not look like the record would be broken on the Maroons' home court. This is when the impossible happened. Bodkin's teammates set Eddie up with numerous shots and almost told him to do all the shooting.

The most memorable assist went to Jerry Jones as his last second pass to Bodkin set the scoring record. Jones was wide open under the basket and it seemed he had his first points of the campaign when he tossed the ball over to Bodkin to climax the game. Bodkin scored eleven points in 45 seconds and pumped in 14 points in 1:35 seconds. This is not an official record but there is doubt whether anyone ever scored that many points in that short a time.

Eddie has been an outstanding performer for Eastern since enrolling here. He has never scored under double figures in his college career. He is leading the OVC in scoring averaging 25.4 points a game, and has made 508 points this season. He has made 205 field goals out of only 395 attempts. He is currently on his way to breaking Larry Parks' old record of 50.2 percent for one season Bodkin is making 51.9 percent of his shots and he needs only 60 more points to set a new season high with five games remaining.

Besides scoring, Bodkin is also leading the team in rebounding, grabbing off an average of 10.6 rebounds a game. He has scored 30 points five times this season and has been over his average three other times.

TRACKSTERS IN SOUTHEASTERN MEET
The track team will participate in the South East United States indoor championship meet at Chattanooga, Tenn. tomorrow. Bill Swenson, Ron Benson, Vern Brooks, and Andrew Cash will run in the mile relay event.

Mile relay team will consist of Jan Halth, Larry Whalen, Earl Jordan, and Keneth Anderson. Anderson and Whalen will also run in the open mile event.

Pole vaulter, Wilbur Davis, will participate in the broad jump and pole vaulting event. Davis is the second highest Negro pole vaulter in the world, and is possibly the most outstanding multiple vaulter in the country. He is outstanding in all four events; the high jump, broad jump, the triple jump (hop, step, and jump), and the pole vaulting event.

Ron Benson and Earl Jordan will run the 880-yard dash while Vern Brooks and Andrew Cash will run in the 600.

Eastern Squeaks Past Scrappy Middle Tennessee

Eastern's Maroons, stone cold in the first half, hit a torrid 61.5 percent from the field in the second period to down a stubborn Middle Tennessee team 70-46 last Saturday night at the Alumni Coliseum.

Big guns for the Maroons were Eddie Bodkin and Bill Walton each scoring 19 points and Jerry Bisbey adding 13. Bisbey lead the Maroons in rebounding with 13 while Bodkin pulled down nine.

Middle Tennessee was a far different team from the one the Maroons defeated 98-80 earlier in the season at Murfreesboro. Forward Bobby Gardner led all scorers for the Blue Raiders with 26 points. Jay Cole added 17 and Ed Cannon tossed in 11. Cannon led both teams in rebounding with 19.

The score was tied 6 times including a 24-24 deadlock at half time. The lead changed hands 11 times until Eastern went on top to stay at 30-29 with 17:02 remaining and a free throw by Jerry Bisbey. The Maroons began to pull away, held their longest lead of the game at 57-41 with 8:09 left.

It was at this stage the Blue Raiders began to come back. Led by the shooting of Cole and Gardner they took advantage of numerous Eastern turnover late in the game to pull with 4 at the game ended.

For the game Eastern hit 28 of 58 field goal attempts for 48.3 percent. Middle Tennessee hit 23 of 60 from the floor for 38.3. The Maroons outrebounded the Raiders 45-38.

Matmen Up-end Marshall

The Eastern matmen avenged an earlier season's defeat by Marshall University with a 26-11 score Saturday at Huntington. The victory enabled the Maroons to up their record to 3-2 for the season.

The grapplers took 6 out of the 9 events. Those winning by a pin were Bob Morrison, Marty Willigan, Mike McClellan, and Jim Holcomb. Joe Howard and Randy Bird each won by decision while Pete Connallon and Larry House both lost by decision, with the 123 lb. weight class lost for forfeit.

The Maroons try to make it two wins in a row over Milligan College of Tennessee this Friday at 2:30 p.m. in Alumni Coliseum. Coach Harper said that this should be the best meet of the season.

Bodkin Does Impossible In Setting Scoring Record

Eddie Bodkin will go to Murray and Western Kentucky tomorrow and Monday as the highest scorer in Eastern history — but for a while it didn't look as if the 6-7 forward was going to make it before the Maroons took to the road.

The Harrodsburg senior went into Monday night's Alumni Coliseum clash with Austin Peay 26 points away from tying assistant coach Jack Adams' 1953-54 career total of 1,460 points. The tilt was Eastern's last home game before the Murray-Western trip, and apparently Bodkin's last chance to become the No. 1 all-time Maroon scorer before a home-court crowd.

With less than two minutes to play Bodkin had just 23 points, 11 shy of a tie. But, with 1:48 to go his teammates started finding him with passes and he scored 11 points in 45 seconds to tie Adams with 1:01 left to play.

Then came a flurry of turnovers and fouls and it looked as if Bodkin might not see the ball again. But with just seven seconds remaining Jerry Jones, a 6-6 sophomore who hasn't scored this season, passed up a wide-open layup to feed Bodkin the ball for a five-foot jumper that wound up in a three point play.

Bodkin finished with 39 points for the game and a 69-game career total of 1,462 points (a 21.1 career average) and he has five more games to play.

The Maroons rode Bodkin's outbreak to go from a 76-66 lead to a 94-65 final score.

Facing the Maroons now is the roughest road trip of the season — the rugged Saturday-

Monday Murray and Western jaunt.

Revenge will be the keynote at Murray. In the Jan. 7 meeting of the two teams in Richmond, Murray went away with 79-73 overtime win that put a successful Ohio Valley Conference title defense apparently out of reach for the now second-place (7-3) Maroons. Eastern downed the Racers 79-73 in the semi-finals of the OVC tournament in Louisville.

Western, seemingly having the loop crown on ice, is the only team holding two wins over the Maroons this year. The Hill-toppers won 83-67 in the tournament and whipped a cold-shooting Eastern team 107-88 in Alumni Coliseum.

Coach Jim Baschold, who says both of the earlier season tilts against Murray and Western were lost on the boards, feels the Maroons must rebound well against both teams to win, especially on the road.

Overshadowed by his career scoring total was Bodkin's single game field goal record of 18 baskets. The old record of 17 was held by Bodkin and Adams.

The OVC's leading scorer with 25.4 points per game, Bodkin is hitting 51.9 per cent of his shots and seems on his way to a record in that department. The current mark is 50.2. He's also the team's top rebounder at 10.6.

Following Bodkin is Bill Walton with 14.2 points per game, John Carr at 9.2 and Jerry Bisbey at 9.1.

A hot 61.4 night from the floor against Austin Peay pushed the Eastern season field goal percentage to 47.8, 1.4 per cent better than the record of 46.4 set last season.

Tracksters Hold Second Fastest Time For 2 Mile Relay In The Country

In the Mason-Dixon Games at Louisville last Saturday night, Eastern's two mile relay team turned the second fastest time in the U.S. in this year's indoor competition. Eastern led through out the whole race but was clipped at the wire by Georgetown University of Washington, D.C. (world record holder in the same event two years ago). Georgetown's time of 7:31.3 is the fastest made in the U.S. and Eastern's time of 7:32.3 the second fastest. Eastern's team was composed of freshman Keith Anderson, sophomore Bill Swanson, sophomore Earl Jordan and senior Ron Benson. Eastern beat some of the finest two mile relay teams in America in this event—New Mexico, who ran third, had been top team and was shown in to make an assault on the world record. Anderson, freshman from Sweden, ran 1:59.8 in the race—this was only one second off the world indoor 880 record. Carey Guess, Eastern junior hurdler, ran third in an event that was won by Willie Davenport who is ranked first in the world. Carey was only three tenths of a second behind Davenport and only a hair out of second place. Wilbert Davis, junior vaulter, failed to make fifteen feet in the vault, but placed third in the broad jump, only an inch out of second place. The event was won by Dennis Holland, the fourth ranking broad jumper in the world last year. Second place was won by Tom Chilton, the eighth ranking jumper in America last year. Larry Whalen First in Mile In the Kentuckiana Mile Larry Whalen, Eastern senior and Jan Halth, Eastern freshman from Sweden, ran first and second and Jim Bensley, a junior, ran fifth. Whalen's winning time was 4:16. Grant Colehour, freshman, ran fifth in the two mile in 9:22.8. Eastern's Mile Relay team, composed of Ron Benson, Vern Brooks, Andrew Cash, and Ron Benson, was the winner in 3:19.3 which broke Kentucky State's 3:21.5 set in 1964. Eastern's next meet is at the S.E.U.S. Championship in Chattanooga on February 18 and 19. Coach Smith will take only a skeleton crew to the meet.

Walton Snags Another Rebound

Bill Walton goes high to get a rebound in Tuesday night's 91-78 win over the Puerto Rico National Basketball Team. Missing his attempt for the recovery, is Adolfo Porrata, Jr., a Puerto Rican guard.

First Home Loss In Pool History

Cincinnati Over Powers Eels

Records fell easily as the talented University of Cincinnati swimmers overpowered the host Eels 63-32 in a dual meet held last Saturday. One Eastern team record and four pool records were eased as U.C. tacked on the first defeat Eastern has suffered in the Alumni Coliseum pool. Eastern had won 11 straight meets in their home pool. Cincinnati's attack on the pool records was devastating as they set marks in the 200 fly (2:05.3), 100 free (1:49.7), 200 back (2:10.1) and the free relay (3:24.6). Bill Walker Breaks Record Bright spot for Eastern was steady Bill Walker's 100 free effort (1:50.9), which knocked two tenths from the old school mark. Walker now holds 5 individual school records and is a member of both record-breaking relays. He also scored two of the three first tallies against U.C. John Warren, senior diver, chalked up the other win. Five of the ten swimming events were won by less than 1.5 seconds. Eastern was on the short end in four of these. The most exciting event of the afternoon was the 200 yd. individual medley which had this finish: Stacy (U.C.) 2:11.6; Hill (E) 2:12.4; Rob Walker (E) 2:12.5; Kute (U.C.) 2:13.0. Another charging finish saw this result in the 200 breast stroke: Moresen (U.C.) 2:29.7; Bob Walker (E) 2:30.6; Vane (U.C.) 2:31.1.

Stronger This Year "Many people have asked me if we are weaker this year than last," said Coach Donald Combs, "and I have to say no. We are stronger. We have broken six of 10 school records already this year. We hold 9 pool records in other pools, which we set this year. We have all but five of our own pool records. Our big problem this year has been the illness of Rick Hill, whom we have counted on for 15 points every meet. We should be getting stronger all the time now as we prepare to defend the KISC Championship, as Rick Hill has started working out again." This Saturday Eastern's Eels travel to Union College for a meet. Wednesday night the Eels put their "four year undefeated by a Kentucky team" on the line when they meet the U.K. Catfish at Lexington.

Varsity Rifle Team Sets Record Score

Last Saturday the Varsity Rifle team walked out of the University of Louisville range with their highest team score in the history of the Rifle team. They beat their opponents 1317 to 1269. William Rigby, Dale Jackson, and Donald Battle also fired their highest individual scores with a 267, 267, and 260 respectively. The other two men that fired were Ralph Klabu with 259 and Carroll with 259. This weekend the team will travel to Western and Murray on a three-day meet.

In Win

Over Puerto Ricans

The Eastern Maroons coasted to an easy 91-78 victory over the traveling Puerto Rico Olympic team in an exhibition game played in Alumni Coliseum Tuesday night.

Coach Jim Baechtold substituted freely after a frenzied beginning that saw the game tied six times in the first seven minutes.

Eastern built up a 40-29 lead late in the second half and Baechtold benched his starters for good.

Reserves Tie Bodkin Reserve Don Granowick and Larry Hobson tied high-scoring Eddie Bodkin for Eastern honors with 12 points.

The Nationals' Angel Cancel, however topped all scorers with 25 points on 10 of 14 field goal attempts and five of six free throws.

Dr. Patrick AMS Meet Speaker

Dr. Alfred Patrick, Chairman of the Business Education Department at Eastern, was the speaker for the Lexington chapter of the Administrative Management Society Feb. 10.

The regular meeting of the AMS, which is held monthly, was at the Campbell House in Lexington. The AMS is a national organization and is composed primarily of administrative managers from business and industry.

The title of Dr. Patrick's speech was "Training Tomorrow's Office Manager Today." The speech dealt with some of the changing concepts in office management which have resulted mainly from automation and electronic data processing; some predictions were made as to the types of training and education tomorrow's office managers will receive.

Eastern To Host NDEA Institute

Eastern will host the eight-week NDEA Institute for Elementary School Librarians June 13 through August 5.

The purpose of the Institute is to give the participants a better understanding of the role that school librarians can and should play in the total educational program.

The Institute is designed to help in-service librarians to work more effectively with students, teachers, and materials which are available to them.

There are certain criteria for application to the Institute which will be limited to thirty elementary librarians of Kentucky and the Appalachian area who:

1. Hold the bachelor's degree from an accredited college;
2. Have at least 15 hours in Library Science, but less than the Master's.

3. Have had at least 2 years experience as an elementary school librarian.

4. Are returning to an elementary school library in September.

All applications will be evaluated by a selection committee of librarians and educators.

Nine hours of graduate credit, if desired, will be received in library science, upon successful completion of the Library Institute.

The program will consist of three areas of study: The Elementary Librarian as a Teacher; Problems in Elementary School Library Science; The Elementary Librarian as a Materials Specialist.

Surveys will be made of current trends and teaching methods with particular emphasis on the teaching of reading.

The major emphasis of this course is on a study of the aims, functions, and organizations of elementary school libraries which are basic to the effective elementary school library research, reading guidance, and story-telling.

Other emphasis is put on the development of an understanding of the concept of the library as a learning center which acquires, organizes, and circulates all types of instructional materials.

Miss Margaret Roser of the Library Science Department here and other specialists on the staff as well as outstanding guest staff members, lecturers, consultants and authorities in the library field will be on the staff throughout the Institute to coordinate the program.

Those who wish to submit applications should apply directly to the institute director Miss Betty K. Hatfield. Address the form to: NDEA Institute for Elementary School Librarians, Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond, Kentucky, 40475.

Housing and dining for Institute participants will be provided in campus facilities. In the air conditioned rooms the cost will be $56.25 for single occupancy, and $87.50 for double. In the non-air-conditioned single occupancy will be $78.75 and double will be $52.50.

Special hotel accommodations for families have been arranged. For two people the cost will be $105.00, for three people, $183.75, and for four, $210.00. The above rates are based on the eight weeks of occupancy.

Dining facilities will be available in the college cafeterias. These cafeterias operate on a cash basis and prices will compare with those generally found on college campuses.

Applications must be postmarked no later than March 21, 1966.

Accepted applicants and alternates are to be notified between April 7 and April 14. Letters of acceptance from the applicants and alternates are to be postmarked no later than April 23, 1966.

Student Council

formed of the purpose of the Experiment and the intention of selection.

While there have been some half-dozen applicants, it is disappointing that more have not taken advantage of this opportunity.

Publicity Committee; Brenda Philpot, Chairman.

The function of the Publicity Committee is to serve the other committees by giving them publicity for their projects. In doing so, this semester special coverage in the Eastern Progress has been given to the Experiment project and the campus-wide Fraternity-Sorority Committee.

Small picture articles of each standing committee are now being featured in the Progress in order to acquaint the student body with the committees which have been formed this year.

Social Committee; Larry Rees, Chairman.

The purpose of the Social Committee is to provide entertainment for the student body.

The committee hopes to sponsor one and possibly two concerts during the coming semester. Possible attractions are the Brothers Four, the Back Porch Majority, Tijauna Brass, and the Dick Clark Caravan.

Institute Committee; Doug Horsley, Chairman.

The purpose of the Student Council Institute is to present a program for the representatives of the student governments of various high schools so that they may gain greater insight into how to make their student governments a basis upon which to formulate such bodies.

This Institute will be scheduled as soon as feasible following spring vacation.

To any kid who'd like to go somewhere: We'll pay half your fare.

The idea's not as crazy as it may seem. Anytime we take a jet up, there are almost always leftover seats. So it occurred to us that we might be able to fill a few of them, if we gave the young people a break on the fare, and a chance to see the country.

The American Youth Plan*

We call the idea the American Youth Plan, and what it means is this: American will pay half the jet coach fare for anybody 12 through 21.

It's that simple. All you have to do is prove your age (a birth certificate or any other legal document will do) and buy a $3 identification card.

We date and stamp the card, and this entitles you to a half-fare ticket at any American Airlines counter.

The only catch is that you might have to wait before you get aboard; the fare is on a standby basis.

"Standby" simply means that the passengers with reservations and the servicemen get on before you do.

Then the plane's yours. The American Youth Plan is good year round except for a few days before and after the Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas rushes.

If you can't think of any places you'd like to go offhand, you might see a travel agent for a few suggestions.

We can't add anything else. Other than it's a marvelous opportunity to just take off.

Complete this coupon—include your $3. (Do not send proof of age—it is not needed until you have your ID validated.) In addition to your ID card, we'll also send you a free copy of AA's Go Go American with $50 worth of discount coupons.

Eastern's Lee Majors On Road To Stardom

(Editor's Note: The following article about Eastern's own Harvey Yearby, now known as Lee Majors, is extracted from a story in the February 19 issue of T.V. Guide.)

When show-business savants predict stardom for a new actor, it is a common press-agent practice to tell him as, "let us say, 'the new James Dean.'" So it was with a tall, 24-year-old, blond, blue-eyed kid from Kentucky named Lee Majors, who plays Heath Barkley in ABC's "The Big Valley."

The only difference in Majors' case is that he actually does resemble the late James Dean somewhat. He is a kind of moody introspective, yet devastatingly direct young man who lives alone on a three-acre ranch in Malibu, along with two horses, 10 dogs, a raccoon and a burro; reads books about the power of positive thinking; and, when asked how he feels about women replies, "They turn me on." He broke all the "humble" rules. Here was an ex-physical education instructor who, before he tested for "The Big Valley" last spring, had never faced a camera in his life; yet he was able to say with perfect equanimity, "After a few years in TV, I'd like to do movies. Seven years from now, if everything works, I'll be getting an Academy Award nomination."

Overnight Sensation?

Well, he may not get that nomination on schedule, but if he doesn't it won't be his fault. Majors came into television at the beginning of the present season with about the noisiest send-off a young, inexperienced actor can get. Hollywood knows it all freely predicted that he would become an overnight sensation. Something about those boyish good looks, that Paul Newman stance, that faint James Dean-like suggestion that for all the virility, he could use a mother, caused ordinarily skeptical observers to flip their corks over him. Barbara Stanwyck, his co-star, found his "magnetism" irresistible, took him under her wing and tried to help get him over the jitters that beset him during the early shooting. It was no secret among the cast that Majors was receiving the most attention and publicity.

As associate producer Lou Morheim put it, "He's not exactly the rage of the network, but his fan mail is tremendous, twice as much as any of his co-stars." What then is Majors? "Well," explains Jules Levy, one of his three producers, "you have to remember that there are five other stars. It took the Bonanza guys two years to catch on. Besides Lee isn't the whole show...."

Compared to James Dean "Stars are different from actors. I can get you actors by the dozens. I know great ones who can't get themselves arrested. This kid, on the other hand, jumps out of the screen at you. One day people will come to discover it."

Majors' own view of his "failure" to justify the great expectations of the know-it-alls is more direct and to the point. He says, "Everybody has to be compared to somebody. So with me it happened to be James Dean. I never knew the man. Actually you have to build your own image. I've found my place. I've something I want to give." A pause. Then he adds wistfully, "If you were a football player, wouldn't you want to go to the Rose Bowl?"

In the summer of 1963 no one had ever heard of Lee Majors. He came to Los Angeles fresh from Eastern Kentucky State College with a football-playing background and a degree in physical education. He paid his rent working as a recreation director for the city of Los Angeles. Somewhere along the line it occurred to him that this was Hollywood and that actors were somewhat better paid than recreation directors. He got himself a dramatic coach, Estelle Harman; an agent, Dick Clayton who also happened to have been James Dean's agent; and a faraway look in his eye. Two years later he was on the stage at CBS Studio Center rehearsing lines for "The Big Valley," picked from several dozen aspirants for the same job, most of them professionals, as it well, didn't everybody?

"It was scary," he remembers. "I was nervous. I still find it nerve-racking. I knew it would be mentally exhausting, though I was hardly prepared for the physical grind. But it was what I wanted to do. And I had confidence in my ability. I really did. All this James Dean stuff, a kind of humble magnetism. I'd rather be Steve McQueen, cool, composed; and Paul Newman, animal masculinity. And that's my idea, not the publicity department's."

Positive-thinking Helped

Still he admits identifying with Dean. "Not that I got into trouble or had a bad time as a kid. I didn't. I was raised with loving care by an aunt and uncle who adopted me after my real parents died. But I didn't know I was adopted until I discovered it accidentally when I was like 12. I was hurt, resentful. Later I got depressions. That was when I took to reading books like 'The Magic of Believing' and 'As a Man Thinketh.' Positive-thinking books, only more complicated. They helped."

They also fortify his belief—a very real one with Majors—that he will get to the top if only because getting to the top is the name of the game, and it is the game he has elected to play. Nothing else has much reality for Lee. He speaks easily of his marriage at 17 which ended in divorce, and of his 4-year-old son, whom he occasionally visits. He professes to dislike the Hollywood-a-go-go atmosphere. "If the party means wearing a tie, I won't go to it."

Instead he likes to stick around his Malibu ranch, a rustic one-bedroom affair with a horse corral, water out of a well and all those animals which by and large he finds more dependable than people. Unfortunately his 6-foot boa constrictor died. However, he can always fall back on the ladies for company. And there are plenty, although he still tends to favor one Miss Patti Chandler, a model-actress of his acquaintance.

Movies for Majors Meantime his confidence has increased immeasurably. "I used to think I had to know every word of the script. I might goof up the shot. I don't worry any more. I say the lines the way that's comfortable for me."

Already he is looking forward to the summer hiatus so he can do a movie. "Movies are the major leagues. I'm going to take my time, look'em all over. I won't do anything unless it is right. I have sent back three already." And he is set for at least three rodeos, a dodge he learned from the "Bonanza" folks and which brings in only m-o-n-e-y.

Where will it all end?

Pest, Weed Control Official Likes Winter Weather

At least one State official is happy about the recent big snows and frosty temperatures. In fact, he'd like to see the weather get even colder.

Coburn Gayle, director of the Department of Agriculture's pest and noxious weed control division, said that "without this severe weather and zero degree temperatures, the Salt Marsh mosquito would get an early start this year in Western Kentucky."

"This wintery weather, both cold and snow, should delay an early mosquito infestation," Gayle said. He pointed out that the snow in itself isn't enough. Without zero-cold, the snow actually helps the insect better survive the winter.

Because of mild weather earlier this winter, Gayle reported there is a greater than usual number of adult Salt Marsh mosquitos "over-wintering" in West ern Kentucky. It is a hardy species and can survive considerable amounts of cold weather—but zero-degree temperatures kill large numbers of the pest.

The insect caused numerous problems last year.

A bumper crop of mosquitos produced a crop of bumps on the exposed areas of many Kentuckians. The Salt Marsh variety is capable also of carrying Eastern Encephalitis—a "sleeping sickness" disease. However, no cases of the disease within the state were traced to the insect last year.

An outbreak of St. Louis Encephalitis near Danville in 1964 was attributed to the Northern House mosquito. This disease, which is usually associated with migratory birds, poultry and livestock, is transmittable to man through bites of the insect, Gayle said.

Larviciding is the most efficient and least expensive way to control the Western Kentucky mosquito problem, according to Gayle. Used very successfully last year over 10,000 acres of Western swamp and pond areas, it consists of spraying fuel oil on swamps and breeding areas during February and March, before the mosquito eggs hatch.

The spraying is done by plane, which is leased by the Agriculture Department. As the eggs hatch into larvae, or "wigglers," the oil prevents the larvae from obtaining oxygen at the water's surface and they are killed before becoming adults.

Once hatched, the adult mosquitos may have to be controlled by the use of chemical spray and fogging machines, the use of which are more costly, Gayle said. The University of Kentucky, in a continuing research program, is testing new chemicals to control adult mosquitos. The control data is passed along to Gayle.

Ex-Maroon Compliments Eastern

By LORRAINE FOLEY
Alumni Editor

M.D. AMBURY, '11, has been very complimentary of the progress of Eastern as reported in the recent issues of the Progress. He is especially interested in the reports of Athletic events since he was a member of the first football team at Eastern. "As beginners," he wrote, we did not have the success that modern teams are having, but we did wear the Maroon!" After graduation, Mr. Ambury earned in Agriculture at University of Ky. in 1916 and spent his working days in the Agricultural Extension Service. He secured his M.A. degree in Agricultural Economics at Missouri University in 1931. He is now retired on a small farm at Warrensburg, Mo., Route 4.

Dr. OTIS C. AMIS, '29, is recovering satisfactorily after being confined to the Campbellsville Hospital for three weeks following a heart attack on January 15. Dr. Amis is convalescing at his home at 508 North Central Avenue, Campbellsville, Ky. Dr. Amis is vice president of Campbellsville College.
